

Just time for a quick word about the latest from delightfully nutty music hall oddballs Biscuithead and The Biscuit Badgers. Their new video Seaweed Under the Sofa is now available for your viewing pleasure. A wistful ditty about the demise of a relationship over Chinese takeaway, the video's cabaret feel is infused with the Badgers' characteristic absurdity and features such surreal visual flourishes as a flaming tuba. It's quite a lovely song and an arresting promo, I urge you to You Tube it forthwith.